

Are you ready to prove what's possible?

As a summer intern at Lam Research, you can expect to gain valuable hands-on experience in the semiconductor industry. You will have the opportunity to closely collaborate with experienced professionals, gain insight into cutting-edge technology, think critically and problem solve, and receive the support you need to succeed. Lam's dynamic work environment will expose you to a variety of departments and projects that will fuel your growth and development.

“Learn from colleagues as much as you can and don't be fearful to ask questions. Lam employees are always willing to answer and support you.”

– Noa, previous intern
